Czechoslovakia 1938

Over the summer of 1938, little Czechoslovakia sat like a crab in the clamp of the mighty German Reich, waiting to be squeezed, as can be seen in this map. The light gray areas on the periphery of Czechoslovakia show the predominantly German-speaking areas of Bohemia and Moravia, the so-called "Sudetenland" that Hitler annexed after the Munich Agreement of September 1938.